August 7th 6:00 PM

As we all know, stroke is a time-critical diagnosis. Patient eligibility for therapy is time-dependent as is the potential benefit of intervention. Many stroke patients will enter the healthcare system through EMS. The information gathered by EMS providers impacts not only which hospital the patient might go to, but what happens once the patient arrives at their destination. In this session, we will review the critical details that should be gathered, how to effectively convey this information, and how this information impacts patient eligibility for an expanding number of stroke therapies.
